

What is a community and how it is built?
Let's explore it from the point of view of S27 and Auf Weiter Flur

S27 is an arts and cultural centre which takes its name from where it's located in Berlin. It's attractive to anyone who want to be a part of city life and take an active role in it

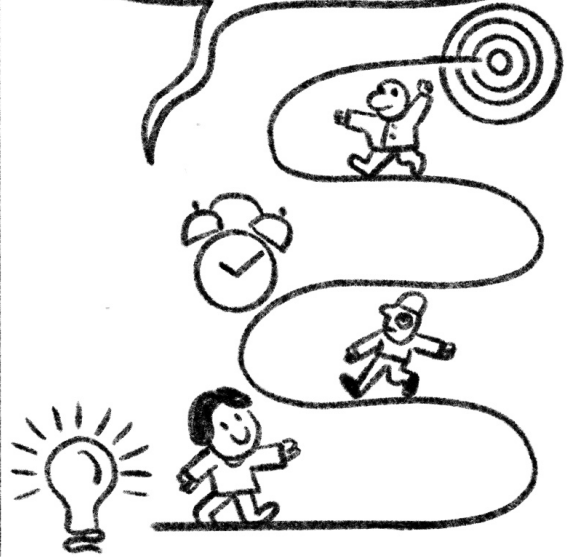

S27

Their principles are very close to Bauhaus theory. Giving facilities and space to everyone for experimenting in different fields of art and craft

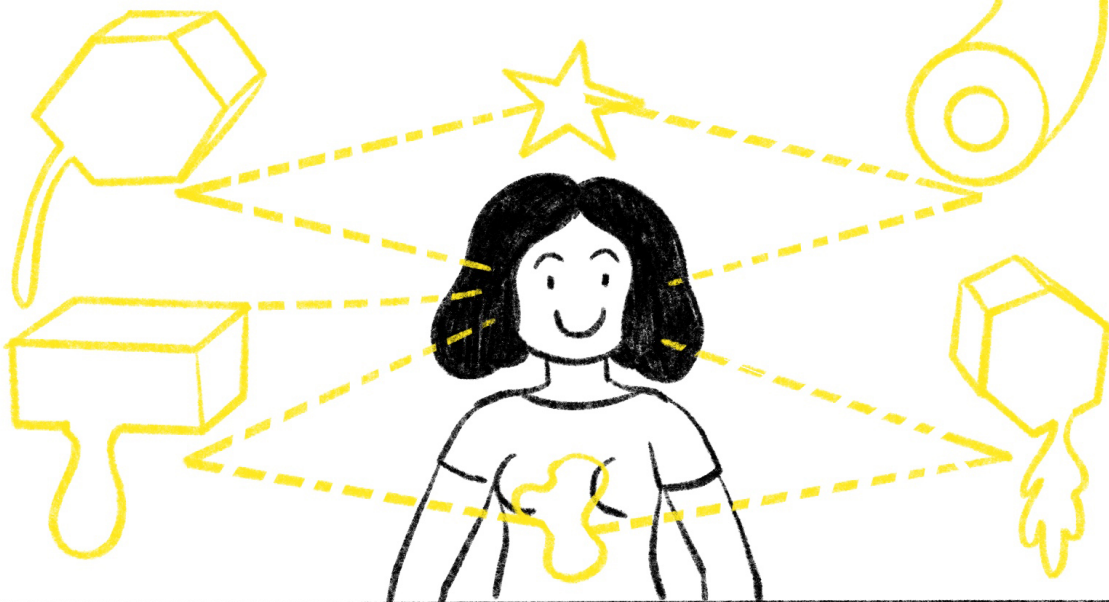

Their goal is to engage people to be part of a process, and to be part of an activity that they have all created together

S27 is in direct conversation with politicians and they try to change (enhance) the situation of people in the city and that's why they consider most of their activities political

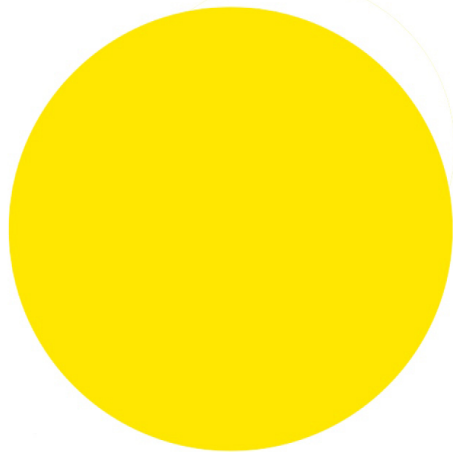

For S27, change is about perceptions. If everything around us is built by us (people) we can reconstruct it and change its meaning or function and we think it's possible via art and culture

What is the community for S27?
Everyone is welcome to be part of our social structure at S27. Your contribution is not linked to what you do, actually you can also do nothing, what matters is your presence in the community

Auf weiter flur is located in the small city of Augustusburg. They do various activities, including hosting artists in residence.

Oh I have so many good memories of this building

Me too, I come to visit it from time to time

It's true, the building of Auf weiter flur has lots of emotional values for the people of Augustusburg

For Auf Weiter flur art and culture create the conditions for people to experiment and modify their belief system. This is made possible not only through the art itself but also by the conversation and discussion around it

How does Auf Weiter flur create its community?
Through our events we attract people. We organise concerts and cinema events. We provide food to help create our community so people can meet and show their support
